

The Learning Program Boston is Recruiting Volunteers for 2016-2017!

Unique and Hands-On Professional Development Opportunity for Student Teachers and Educators

Are you interested in learning more about best practices to support students with intellectual disabilities in school? Join us at the Learning Program Boston!

The Learning Program is an early literacy and numeracy program for elementary-age children with Down syndrome. Our student classes are run by special educators and include other therapists and paraprofessionals.

We are currently looking for volunteers to assist in our children's program which runs from September 2016 through May 2017.

Volunteers will have the opportunity to:

- Access professional development related to research-based best practices designed to support students with Down syndrome and other intellectual disabilities
- Work directly with students alongside experienced educators and related service providers
- Earn community service volunteer hours
- Earn credit for on-site hours required for your education program
