

Transforming Lives Building Community

"I have learned more about teaching techniques and my child's academic strengths and educational challenges from the Learning Program than any other resource out there."

"The Learning Program has helped my daughter achieve far more academic success that we deemed possible."

"The Learning Program is the resource that has most heavily influenced my family hands down."

"We feel so grateful that our family has access to this amazing program that is the Learning Program."

About

The Learning Program Boston is an educational program committed to improving academic outcomes for children and youth with Down syndrome.

A nationally-recognized model for parent-focused intervention, our program is grounded on evidence-based approaches developed for the cognitive profile of students with Down syndrome.

The Learning Program™ is implemented in the greater Boston area by the 3-21 Foundation, a 501(c)3 non-profit. The 3-21 Foundation's mission is to advance innovations in education and cognition for people with Down syndrome so they can be empowered to pursue their dreams.

We believe in the potential of every child

Students with special needs deserve to be educated in a welcoming environment. They also need to be challenged to grow and thrive, both academically and socially.

We believe in educational programs that meet the individual needs of the child but are based on global best practices for all students. We know that differences among people are natural and enriching; we value all children for their ability to shape the future.

We believe in the power of working together to unlock the potential of every child.

Support for Families

- We help families develop educational programs that meet their child's individual needs grounded on evidence-based approaches to teaching students with Down syndrome.
- We help prioritize areas for advocacy to facilitate inclusion within a range of settings.
- We host information sessions for the community-at-large on best practices for teaching and including students with Down syndrome.
- Our learning community provides a regular forum in which to discuss Down syndrome educational issues.

Support for Students

- Our program serves as a platform for improving educational outcomes for students with Down syndrome,
- By sharing strategies, resources and activities, we equip families with the knowledge and tools to work effectively with their child in both home and school settings.
- We offer academic classes for students and concurrent instructional workshops for parents.
- Students attend a high-energy, developmentally-appropriate class led by special education professionals.
- Parents attend instructional workshops featuring different topics that build upon each other sequentially.
- Additional academic support can be arranged through our individual or small group tutoring program.
